

SCIENCE

CH:3 FIBRE TO FABRIC

Class: VI

Choose the correct answer and tick them

- Which among the following is an animal fibre?
a) cotton b) flax c) silk
- Cotton fibre is obtained from the _____ of cotton plant.
a) Stem b) Fruit c) leaf
- Socks is made from _____ yarn.
a) single b) two sets c) many sets
- Season most suited for jute cultivation
a) summer b) winter c) rainy
- Takli is used for _____
a) weaving b) spinning c) ginning

Fill up the blanks:

- The thinner strands in a fabric which make a yarn are called _____.
- Separation of fibres from seeds by combing is called _____.
- Silk fibre is drawn from the _____ of silk worm.
- Polyester, nylon and acrylic are examples of _____ fibres
- Cotton plants grow well at places having _____ and _____

Answer the following:

- Define the following:
a) Ginning b) Spinning c) Weaving
- Distinguish between natural and synthetic fibres with examples.
- Write a brief account on the extraction of cotton and the climatic conditions that suits the growth of cotton plant
- How is jute obtained from jute plant?